Features:

An outstanding Georgian home on the most picturesque residential street in Toronto.

The home was extensively renovated in 2016, both aesthetically and mechanically.

Careful consideration was applied to the curated selection of finishes to ensure the home remained comfortable for everyday life, yet impressive enough to host formal gatherings of varying size.

Every room has been impeccably restored, renovated and enhanced to maximize its potential.

The large Georgian entryway with herringbone marble flooring offers an inviting entry to this exquisite home.

Being a centre hall design, the formal living and dining rooms flank the foyer landing which is equipped with a new and perfectly positioned powder room.

The expansive living room with deep Georgian windows is centered upon a new gas fireplace. The scale of this space is elegant and inviting, and truly filled with light.

Features Continued:

The dining room is an elegant setting for seasonal family gatherings. It is lined with wainscotting that was painstakingly restored by hand and finished with a refreshed lacquered finish. The walls are lined with perfectly matched grasscloth wallpaper, and the oversized Georgian window overlooks the front privacy garden.

Incomparable in design and quality, the kitchen is quite simply superb. Designed to meet the needs of a practiced chef, each cabinet perfectly outfits all of the required culinary storage one could ever need.

It's important to open each drawer and cabinet when you are at the house to understand how carefully scrutinized this cabinetry was conceptualized. Uncover the concealed electrified appliance garage, slotted drawer settings for pans or utensils, two integrated freezer drawers or behold the back-lit china cabinet with custom sliding glass door accents.

In combination with this remarkable kitchen is a room expanded by both a family room and a breakfast room. It is breathtaking upon entry, and a setting that is most enjoyed by the current residents as the heart of the home.

An exposed brick wall lines the family room, and a double sided fireplace connects to the paneled library opposite this room.

The breakfast room is recessed into a bay of oversized windows and illuminated by the addition of three large skylights. Wrapped on the exterior with the lush green landscape, it's not an exaggeration to say you feel as though you are in a country retreat.

Belgian blue limestone flooring lines the combined kitchen, family and breakfast rooms, and it is heated underfoot within the breakfast room.

Features Continued:

Tucked away beside the kitchen, within a charming arched doorway is the entrance to a captivating wine room with a climate control system. This room was completely re-insulated from the exterior and beneath the floor for temperature assurance.

A quiet library wrapped in restored wooden paneling is a perfect retreat for marathon watching of weekend sports, or a quiet setting to consume the news. A wet bar and bar fridge are useful accents to this main floor retreat.

The library also offers a walk out to the south-facing stone patio which can be partially covered with the electronic awning overhead.

On the second floor, the primary suite offers a comfortable and elegant setting at the end of the day. Unique and fully custom closets with leather drawer pulls and carefully planned interiors line the passage between the bedroom and ensuite.

The primary ensuite is magnetic in attraction with its soft and elegant design choices. The room is wrapped in light from the south, east and westerly exposures, yet not one requires a window covering for privacy as it is protected by the lush green canopy of the gardens.

Two additional bedrooms are enlarged by their Georgian window features, and both bedrooms share access to the beautifully appointed three-piece bathroom.

On the lower level, new hardwood flooring has been laid and the open expanse of the recreation room offers a bounty of uses for the next home owner. The finished space is serviced by a three-piece bathroom and a large walk-in cedar closet, and adjacent to it lies a highly functional laundry and utility room with extra storage for your household.

The gardens of this property are truly remarkable, but are not intimidating as they are perennial and function beautifully on their own with little maintenance.

A front mature garden bed acts as a subtle barrier to passers by, creating privacy but showcasing exciting sightlines of the gorgeous Georgian facade.

The perimeter of the lot is wrapped with tall mature trees, rich perennial plantings, and a trickling pond at the rear enhances the tranquility of this illustrious garden setting. Deceivingly, the lot size itself is over 9000 square feet and the gardens truly do make you feel as though you are within a country retreat.

The attached two car garage has its own separate heater, and a sub-panel for an electric car charger.

A double-wide private driveway can comfortably hold four cars, and the pretty stone walkway from the street curb to the front door is heated.

The home is within minutes to the Rosedale Golf Club, the Granite and Cricket Clubs, walking distance to Yonge Street and as well a quick commute to a array of Toronto's private school offerings.

Unbeknownst to many, Riverview Drive is one of the most coveted residential streets in all of Toronto. It is incredibly private and sits in a highly respectful and established community of residents.
